

When your university's mission is focused on serving others, it's not surprising that your own community is a close and caring one. Neumann University is a private Catholic Franciscan university, living out a tradition of respect for individuals, concern for the environment, and dedication to social responsibility.

At Neumann, you'll find rigorous academics – taught by some of the nation's brightest minds. You'll find opportunities for experiential learning – from internships, to study abroad, to service learning.

You'll find remarkably successful alumni – from scientists, to educators, to artists. But what you will also find is a learning community where each student is known, respected and cared about – for the special individual that he or she is. That is a uniquely personal experience. That is the distinction, and the blessing, of a Neumann education.

ONE FAMILY

Ours is a smaller community at Neumann University – and a very close one. Here, in a warm and welcoming environment, we’re able to know one another well, and these close relationships extend not just to other students, but to faculty and staff, to our cafeteria workers and grounds people – to all who call Neumann home.

A CARING HOME

At Neumann, support is everywhere. As one student commented, “Everyone here is so caring and kind; they look out for you, and want only the best for you.” This is a genuine place, a comfortable place – a place where you will care about others, and they will care about you.

A PLACE TO BELONG

This is not a university where you’ll get lost among tens of thousands of other students. Here, at Neumann, instead of feeling like a number, you’ll feel like the important, valued individual that you are. You’ll feel like you matter – and that sense of acceptance and belonging will matter a lot.

EVERYWHERE, COMMUNITY

Friendly nods and hellos on a walk across campus. Students hanging out at the Life Center. A history class gathered at a professor’s home for dinner. Our President cheering loudly at a Knights home game. The close feeling of community is everywhere at Neumann. And if you come here, you’ll feel it, too.

personalized education that will change your life

KEY FACTORS:

- ▶ Academic Excellence
- ▶ Career Focus
- ▶ Inspirational Values
- ▶ Personal Attention

While education is a lifelong process, no doubt some of your most significant learning will occur while you're in college. It's why your choice of a college is so important, as you'll want a learning environment that fits you well – who you are now as a student, and who you hope to become in the future.

Many students find the right fit at Neumann University, as our learning environment is set apart by four key factors: rigorous academics that challenge and enlighten; a liberal arts core integrated with career-focused knowledge and practical experiences; a Catholic Franciscan tradition that emphasizes respect, integrity, social justice and service; and individual attention that is a hallmark of the Neumann experience.

These factors combine in singular ways to provide a university experience that is uniquely personal – and life changing.

academic experience an academic experience filled with intellectual energy

This is an educational experience that will challenge you as never before. At Neumann University, you will be encouraged to open your mind and your heart, to stretch yourself, and to discover who you truly are. You'll explore new areas of knowledge. You'll engage and apply what you learn. You'll strive for excellence, and with a lot of hard work, support and encouragement, you'll achieve it.

A LARGER WORLD

At Neumann, you'll see a larger world for yourself. Through study abroad, whether for a semester or during the summer, you can expand your education to include other countries, cultures, and languages – global experience that top employers look for.

AN EXTRA CHALLENGE

You may also choose to challenge yourself as part of our Honors program. As an honors student, you'll work with select faculty, sharpen your critical thinking and writing skills, engage in multidisciplinary studies, and grow your scholarship, leadership and professional potential.

career

Why are Neumann University graduates so highly sought after? Because they are ready to hit the ground running, starting day one. Our career-focused academic programs and real-world experiences prepare you well, whether entering a chosen career or moving on to graduate or professional school.

Neumann is a recognized leader in combining classroom education with practical experience. Internships, clinical practice, practica experiences, leadership opportunities, and co-operative employment enable you to take what you learn in the classroom and apply it in the real world – long before you graduate.

No wonder hundreds of employers visit our campus every year. Ours is a real-world, practical education, one that employers and graduate and professional schools value – and you will value, too.

Will your major change in college? Very likely it will. In fact, many students begin college without even declaring a major, and often their ideal program of study turns out to be a field they had never before considered. When it comes to choosing a major, and ultimately a career, you need choices, and that's another reason to choose Neumann University. We offer a comprehensive range of career-focused, results-oriented academic programs to prepare you for great success – whatever your chosen major, whatever your chosen field.

JADE '13

"My service learning experience has been very humbling and has taught me to appreciate all that I have been blessed with."

www.neumann.edu/jadeh

Knowledge is valuable – but more valuable still is knowledge used in the service of others. Social responsibility, respect for individuals, concern for the environment – these are values that are central to the Franciscan vision of what it means to be an educated person.

Through service learning, Neumann University students are able to connect academics with activities that help those in need. Neumann students, faculty and staff also serve in the community as volunteers, enthusiastically sharing their talents and knowledge in the service of others.

Service is integral to the four-year Neumann experience, but it doesn't stop there. Changed by the values and experiences gained here, Neumann alumni continue active lives of service, whether returning to campus to mentor students, participating with students and faculty in service projects, or serving as leaders in their own communities and churches.

Our Franciscan values, the opportunity to use our knowledge and gifts to serve others – these are the greatest rewards and success of a Neumann education.

What does it say about the depth of an athletic program when its home isn't called "Athletic Center" or "Sports Coliseum," but rather "Center for Sport, Spirituality and Character Development?" It says that being a champion at Neumann University is about more than just championships.

Make no mistake: Neumann's student-athletes play to win. They are winners on the field, court and rink – in fact, our ice hockey team recently won the NCAA Division III National Championship. But our student-athletes are also champions in leadership and sportsmanship, skill building and teamwork, respect for others and the game, and representing their university with dignity and grace, whether in victory or defeat.

Sport, Spirituality and Character – these are a part of our building's name; these are a part of all who proudly wear the Neuman blue and gold.

THE AMAZING MIRENDA CENTER

The new Mirenda Center for Sport, Spirituality and Character Development is a brand new, state-of-the-art, 72,000-square-foot facility that serves as home to the university's 21 NCAA teams. In addition to its modern gymnasium which hosts Knights basketball and volleyball, the Mirenda Center also includes a grand foyer with impressive exhibits that feature five themes connecting sports to the Catholic Franciscan tradition: play, respect, beauty, balance and reflection.

Neumann University students choose to live on campus because they want to immerse themselves in the full university experience. Ours is an active residential life, where students can easily meet others, build lasting friendships, enjoy on-campus convenience, and take part in the many activities that make up campus life.

Students reside in our Living and Learning Centers, a state-of-the-art residential complex. Each residence floor is called a “House,” where groups of four or six students live in suites that include a private bathroom, plus Internet, cable and air conditioning. Other amenities include three 24/7 computer labs, study lounges in each House, a Cardio and Weight Room, laundry facilities, a Reflection Room for meditation or prayer in Living and Learning Center I, and 24/7 security.

Full-time and part-time residence life professionals live in each building along with student resident assistants. The Office of Residence Life helps create a sense of community and fun through a wide variety of educational, social and spiritual programming.

Neumann University is easily accessible to the major hubs of Philadelphia and Wilmington, Delaware – both less than 30 minutes away.

Philadelphia – America's 5th largest city and a global center for business, healthcare, education and culture – provides Neumann students immense opportunities for jobs, internships and research. Plus, Philly is a lot of fun – with its endless restaurants and cafes, world-class museums and theaters, major professional sports, historic treasures, and more. Less than 10 miles south, Wilmington, Delaware offers its own attractions, including its downtown Riverfront, beautiful parks and numerous festivals.

Farther afield, but still within a two-hour drive, you'll find the Jersey Shore and the beaches of Delaware. New York City, Baltimore and Washington are easy day trips, especially by train.
